Chevy Chase, MD 20815

Dear Julian,

David Rabin received an award of $1,800 from the Village Council under its 2025 New Initiatives project for End-of-Life Preparation programs. Two programs, one virtual and the other in-person, were conducted by Dixcy Bosley from IONA Senior Services, and seven individual sessions were held at IONA Senior Services. The programs and sessions were scheduled, coordinated and managed by Friendship Heights Neighbors Network.

The award requires that a report be provided to the Village Council describing the accomplishments of the End-of-Life Preparation programs. That report is enclosed, together with the invoices from Dixcy Bosley and IONA Senior Services. I would appreciate that payment of the invoices be made directly to the issuers, with copies to David Rabin and FHNN.

Let me, on behalf of David Rabin and FHNN, express appreciation to the Village Council for the New Initiatives project and the award for the End-of-Life Preparation programs and to the Village Center staff for all their assistance.

Sincerely,

Evan Smith
FHNN President

cc: David Rabin

Final Report:

Friendship Heights Village Council Award to David Rabin for End-of-Life Preparation Programs under the New Initiatives Project

Under this Award, two formal presentations were given by Dixcy Bosley, RN, MSN, FNP, with long-term life experience providing end-of-life care. She is also a Nurse Manager of the Iona House Aging and Care Giving Team. The first of her End-of-Life presentations was held on Sept. 30 via Zoom for 55 registrants. The second presentation about End-of-Life documents was in person at the Friendship Heights Village Center on Oct. 29. Document copies were available for the 58 attendees.

Following these presentations, Friendship Heights residents were offered end-of-life private consultations at IONA Senior Services. Seven sessions were provided. The programs and sessions were scheduled, coordinated and managed by Friendship Heights Neighbors Network.

Programmatic expenditures under this award were as follows:

$ 540 - For two (2) presentations by Dixcy Bosley: Invoice from Dixcy Bosley is attached

$ 1,260 - For seven (7) sessions: Invoice # 004306 from IONA Senior Services is attached

$ 1,800 Total
